

Negative-control outcome: the specificity check

Female matched sets, 3-year horizon. Carpal tunnel has no plausible causal link to IHH.

The carpal tunnel hazard is null while the seizure hazard is clearly elevated. If the design were simply measuring greater healthcare contact among IHH patients, BOTH would be elevated. This is the strongest single piece of evidence that the primary result is not pure ascertainment.