

The negative control is elevated in both cohorts

Restricting controls to those with baseline healthcare contact raises the seizure estimate but leaves the negative control unchanged

If the excess were purely baseline non-comparability, restriction would have moved both. It moved only the seizure estimate.